BOSTON

Lesley University is a small, private university that proudly graduates more mental health professionals and specialized education teachers than any other college or university in New England.

Located just outside Boston near Harvard Square in the vibrant city of Cambridge, Massachusetts, Lesley is renowned for its unique portfolio of programs focused on Education, Mental Health & Well-Being, and Art & Design.

The University also offers Liberal Arts & Business programs that support these key disciplines and our unique Threshold Programs for neurodiverse individuals to learn on-campus, or be supported in independent living and working.

Lesley is so much more than a university; it is a place that supports the key professions of education, mental health, and the arts.

L I N

Students at Lesley always have strong links to internships, but increasingly, students entering programs can choose to become a partner Scholar.

We partner with schools, mental health organizations, and artistic communities that hire our graduates, creating seamless pathways into these very-needed professions.

This enables them to receive a super-charged scholarship, a guaranteed internship and engagement in a network of students, all connected to the same employer partner.

K S

In addition, Lesley faculty members frequently work with schools and other organizations to provide professional development.

Through these links, Lesley not only supports its students, but also its partner schools, districts, and mental health and arts organizations through hiring and retention.

F

O

We prepare students to practice these key professions with programs structured to teach how to make a living in their chosen field.

We make it possible for students to take a suite of classes outside of their major, such as business courses that align with education, mental health, or the arts, to further prepare them for success in their desired profession.
